

Climate Action Council Draft Scoping Plan

Senator Rath sent this information with the heading "Rising Energy Costs Will Hurt NYers." He is undoubtedly correct. However, will present day New Yorkers be hurt more than the pain we inflict upon future New Yorkers, our children and grandchildren, by failing to pass these environmental measures? Or more immediately, as gas prices currently rise because of the present war sanctions, is economic hurt to New Yorkers more important than the hurt and devastation currently experienced by Ukrainian citizens being bombed by the Russians? I would encourage Senator Roth, and other politicians like him, to think beyond policies that are only concerned with our immediate economic prosperity. I, and I think many more of his constituents, believe there are more significant values than just our present economic status quo.

Sincerely yours, Douglas R. Giebel, 500 Brooks Avenue, Rochester NY 14619
